From the Hague Courant, dated Jan. 21.

Lisbon, Dec. 23. Our Court has given Order to increase every Company of Foot with ten Men, every Troop of Horse with twenty, and the Dragoons with 5 Men. And further, it was resolv'd in the last great Council held in the King's Presence, to raise several new Regiments, and to give out Commissions to that purpose forthwith. Our Fleet is also to be put into a State for Service, and there are already Orders given for repairing the old Ships. In the Arsenal, many Pieces of Cannon are casting, both for the Fleet and Army, and Commissaries of the Artillery are sent to visit the Magazines upon the Frontiers, and to make out exact Lists of the Artillery and Ammunition they find in each Place. Several Engineers are sent likewise to survey the Fortifications, and are order'd to make a Report of the State they are in.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Jan. 22.

Vienna, Jan. 8. We hear from Hassan-Bassa-Palanka, and from our remotest Frontiers, that the Turkish Garrison of Ufna Vizza was departed from thence, and that the Enemy are drawn off from other Places thereabouts also; which makes our Men be upon the Watch, lest they should be gone upon some Design. In regard that it is expected the Answer of the Turks which we wait for concerning Peace, will not be Satisfactory, the Haste in preparing for the Army's early entering the Field is doubled. 'Tis said there is Advice, that the Persians will go to War with the Ottoman Porte, and that their Troops are already in March for that purpose. They say further, that that King has desir'd the Czar of Muscovy to take Advantage of this Opportunity to fall upon the Turks, and recover what he lost; and we flatter our selves that the Czar will indeed pursue such Counsel, the rather because he has Russian Troops enough already upon the Turkish and Tartarian Frontiers to act offensively.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Jan. 18.

Berlin, Jan. 8. A Fortnight ago, before the King went to Potsdam, he order'd M. de Forcade, Colonel of a Regiment of Foot and Governour of this City, to assemble the Protestant Refugees, and to tell them from Him, that the Count de Denhoff who had the Direction of their Affairs being dead, his Majesty would give that Direction to one of his Ministers, who should treat them with all the Candour and all the Equity that was possible; and he gave them Leave to chuse which of his Ministers they thought most favourable to them. The Assembly were so sensible of his Majesty's great Favour to them, that they resolv'd to make an Address of Thanks, which they order'd M. de Beaufobre to draw up, and appointed Deputies to Sign it, which was done accordingly. And the King being return'd last Thursday, M. de Forcade presented to him that Address, which his Majesty received most graciously; and in Effect the King appears resolv'd not only to maintain them in their Privileges, but even to extend those Privileges.

From the Hague Courant, dated Jan. 10.

Dusseldorp, Jan. 4. All the strong Places in Juliers and Berg are to be reforc'd, and to that purpose, some Regiments are expected from the Palatinate. We expect Orders to encrease every Regiment to 2500 Men, and to send a great Part of them for the Emperour's Service into Italy.

From the Hague Courant, dated Jan. 12.

Liege, Jan. 7. We hear from the French Frontiers, that they are not only busy in encreasing their Troops, but that they talk also of erecting again the Free Companies.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Jan. 22.

Francfort, Jan. 16. The Advices we have had that the French increase their Troops in Alsatia, and elsewhere, and that they are buying 4000 Horses ses to remount their Cavalry, is confirmed. The Report that some Thousands of Hesse-Cassel Troops are to go into the Emperor's Service, continues; but it cannot however be certain, for we understand, that the Convention to that purpose, is not yet sign'd.

Maastricht, Jan. 14. The Fortifications of the Castle and Fort of Huy being now quite demolished, the Regiment of Foot of Albert is come hither; and as soon as the Fortifications of the Citadel of Liege are also destroy'd, the Garrison that is there will retire to Namur.

Hague, Jan. 20. Last Night arrived here an Express from Brussels to Baron Heems, the Emperor's Ambassador. Mr. Whitworth, and other Foreign Ministers were with that Lord this Day in the Forenoon. At Noon, the Lords the States of Holland and West Friesland were assembled, and will continue their Session to Morrow.
